Waiting Period

Florida law mandates a waiting period of at least 20 days from the date of filing before the court can issue a final judgment, giving both parties time to reach agreements.

The respondent has 20 days from service to file a response. Failure to respond can lead to a default judgment in favor of the petitioner.

After Filing: What Happens Next?

Once the divorce papers are filed and served, the case moves forward through several stages:

Negotiation and Settlement

Parties may negotiate terms, possibly with the help of attorneys or mediators, to reach an agreement on issues like custody, support, and property division.

If disputes remain unresolved, the court will schedule hearings to make determinations on contested issues.

Final Judgment

After all issues are settled or decided, the court issues a Final Judgment of Dissolution of Marriage, which legally ends the marriage and enforces the agreed or court-ordered terms.
